

Mission Statement

At House of Lavish Candle Co, we make clean luxury candles that celebrate positive change.

Our scents are specially curated to be reminiscent of growing up in Black America. We craft the highest quality candles from wax to wick to bring you the little luxuries made for your daily ritual.

Why did I choose to make candles?

My reason for starting a candle company is two-fold.

I am an NYC educator. I became an educator because, having gone through the public school system, there were, and still are so many changes that need to happen and I want to be a part of that positive change.

Teaching through the pandemic has opened my eyes to the many disparities and missing links in the public school system. I've decided to, (1) listen to my students and (2) lead by example.

Like many other people the mandated shutdowns, social distancing, and minimal socializing took a toll on my mental health. This was something my students shared with me as well. They had a feeling of hopelessness. In trying to find solutions to help my students cope with their current reality, I found a way to do that for myself. That was making candles.

I love candles. I never leave my local Target without getting a candle or two. Being able to relax, clear my mind, and re-evaluate with my favorite scent cascading in the background was my self-care.

Moreover, creating a business out of a need is a lesson I hope to teach every student that walks into my classroom. Being able to show them different pathways to success by owning your passion will be a part of my legacy.
