About me

There is a saying that goes 'you are what you eat'. I strongly believe in this.

Nutrition plays a key role in our health, however with our busy lifestyles it can sometimes be hard to keep up and get all the key vitamins, minerals and other things our bodies need to function at their best.

A while back I discovered an amazing vitamin and mineral supplement, that also contains digestive enzymes and key other ingredients our bodies need, in one simple to use product. What sold me was that it is pure and organic and it is safe for children, pregnant women and nursing mums.

I was already spending a small fortune at the local health store, and I found this product worked out much cheaper overall, for more benefits! Plus it is 100% organic certified, and contains no bulking agents!

Since then, the company has introduced more 100% pure organic wholefood products. These include protein powders, tea, cocoa and other hydration & detox products.

For more information you can visit my facebook page, or go direct onto my webpage.

With great health products, we need to eat clean aswell, I hope you enjoy the recipes in this book...

To health & happiness,

And everything in inbetween.
